AGI Scotland and Early Careers Network
CV Review Clinic
Monday 6 June 2022

It's been almost four years since our very successful in person CV clinic event and this time round we held it virtually, supported by our 'A-Team' – a joint team of AGI-Scotland and Early Career Network committee members.

It was an inclusive event and open to anyone hoping to land a job in the geospatial sector or move up to the next level in their GIS career – so whether you are students, graduates, early career professionals or career changers you are all welcome.

The new normal has also changed the way we work and how we recruit. The interview now often takes place in your room – job seekers are now facing a new challenge and we are here to help you!

This was an action-packed day to remember with two speakers, icebreaker and networking session and one-to-one CV clinic sessions! Not an ordinary CV clinic where you get general advice, but very industry-specific advice you will get from our line-up of experienced GIS professionals.

This was a pilot event that is limited to AGI Scotland members only and due to the successful, our aim to extend this event to a wider group or other parts of the UK in the future.
